inner of the Associated Builders and Contractors of Delaware's Excellence in Construction Award, the Hockessin Athletic Club aquatic complex impresses visitors with more than 522 lineal feet of exposed aluminum spiral ductwork. Wm. H. Brady Inc. delivered the dual-wall insulated duct which was lowered into place through the atrium roof.
